A GRAND DISPLAY.

Elaborate Naval Parade In Honor of Admiral Dewey.

CITY'S OFFICIAL WELCOME.

Mayor Van Wyck And Party Visit the Flagship Olympia.

THE CROWDS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC.

Vivid Description of the Movements of the Giant Sea-Fighters in the Greatest Naval Demonstration Given in America.

New York, Sept. 29.—It was about 12:42 when the armored cruiser New York, the flagship of Rear Admiral Sampson, hoisted the signal for readiness.

There was a sudden tooting of brass bugles and excitement and bustle on all of the big war vessels. The crowd was alert. The police boat patrol, with standards set and signals flying, fired a gun. The New York broke out the signal to up-anchor. There was a rattle of chains.

Promptly at 1 p. m. every vessel started to turn about as most of them had their prows pointed down the harbor. The crowds sent up cheer after cheer as the Olympia slowly moved around.

The parade was off the battery at 1:45 and the crowds assembled there cheered time and again as the warships passed.

From that point all the way up the river until Grant's tomb was reached there was a succession of scenes of enthusiasm rarely ever equalled in this or any other city.

The roof of every building commanding a view of the river was crowded with people who literally went wild cheering the admiral. From the roof of the appraiser's store a massive kite was flown and from it there fluttered, high up in the air, a large American flag.

After the warships Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht, the Erin, was much applauded. Sir Thomas Lipton had taken up a position on the bridge of the Erin the moment she got under way to guide the starboard column and except for a few minutes spent on the quarterdeck, just after passing under the battery, he remained at the side of the skipper, Captain Matthews waving his yachting cap in response to the salutes until after the Erin rounded the turn of the point off Grant's tomb.

There were many distinguished guests on the Erin, including the Hon. Charles Russell, who just arrived from England; Sir R. Burdette, Walford Burdette, Hugh C. McGiloway, James Craig, Colonel Sharma-Crawford and Dr. E. Mackey.

In the line of yachts were two other foreign visitors, the Earl King and the White Lady. While the reception that greeted them was noisy enough for all purposes, it was not nearly so enthusiastic as the serenade to the passing Erin.

When the parade reached a point opposite Hoboken a welcome to the admiral was fired from a cannon on the green in Hudson park. The crowds on the Jersey shore were fully as large as those on the New York side of the river. From some points on shore Admiral Dewey could be seen standing on the bridge of the Olympia and wherever this was the case the cheering and waving of handkerchiefs by the crowds was wildly enthusiastic.

The crowd waiting at Grant's tomb was the largest ever gathered there. The officers in charge of the Grant mausoleum said that 17,000 persons as nearly as he could estimate had visited the tomb during the morning and all of these and many more remained in that vicinity to see the warships.

A Tremendous Demonstration.

The admiral's cruiser at 2:25 p. m. was opposite Twenty-ninth street. Then there was a tremendous demonstration. Cannons roared, the people yelled and flags and handkerchiefs were waved from the streets and hundreds of roofs and windows. There were thousands of persons on the roofs of the houses near the river and park and windows were crowded. From all these people and thousands in the park came shouts of welcome and cheers for the admiral as the Olympia passed by.

The scene was inspiring all along. Mount Tom, which used to be the site of an old fort, had 7,000 or 8,000 persons on it. It was one of the best points of view of the riverside park. The riverside drive was lined on both sides with unbroken strings of carriages. The grand stands were filled and the cheering continued from the time the Olympia hove in sight until she was away up the river.

The Olympia rounded the stakeboat at St. Mary's off One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street at 2:30 p. m. amid deafening sounds of cannon and cheers from the largest crowd ever gathered in this city.

The parade was one hour and 15 minutes passing Fulton street. The vessels moved at about eight knots an hour.

Former Secretary of the Treasury John G. Carlisle, Former Governor Wamouth of Louisiana, and ex-Senator James L. Pugh of Alabama viewed the parade from the roof of the appraiser's store building.

MAYOR VAN WYCK

And Admiral Dewey Exchange Visits on the Water.

New York, Sept. 29.—Long before sunrise the blue jackets on Admiral Dewey's flagship were hard at work washing down decks and preparing the flagship for the most magnificent naval demonstration that has ever taken place in an American port. Like activity was in progress on the other sea fighters riding at anchor below the Olympia.

The scene was a glorious one as the sun's rays glistened on the white side of the big vessels. The weather could not have been more beautiful.

Admiral Dewey made his appearance on the Olympia shortly after 8 a. m. in undress uniform. Quite a number of vessels of various kinds were already lying beside the flagship, and he received a warm greeting. All of the yachts at the anchorage grounds were decorated with flags and bunting, ready for the parade.

The big steamer Sandy Hook, carrying the mayor and the committee which was selected to visit the Olympia and formally welcome Admiral Dewey, and with upwards of 1,000 distinguished guests and officials on board, steamed away from the city's pier at the battery shortly after 10 a. m. to make a visit to the Olympia and start the naval parade.

The Sandy Hook reached the Olympia at 10:40 a. m. The Olympia's launch put off to the Sandy Hook, but the mayor could not get on board, the deck being too high. The police patrol boat saw the trouble the mayor was in and she steamed up alongside the Sandy Hook. The mayor then stepped aboard the patrol from which he boarded the launch. The mayor ascended the ladder and stepped aboard the Olympia's deck at precisely 11 a. m. The visit on the Olympia was short.

Then the barge was called alongside again and Admiral Dewey led the mayor down the gangway and boarded the barge with him. The barge took its passengers to the patrol, transhipped them to the Sandy Hook.

The band on the Sandy Hook struck up "See, the Conquering Hero Comes" as the patrol approached.

The admiral's visit to the Sandy Hook was a lengthy one. As soon as he boarded the steamer he was taken in hand by the special committee of the reception committee and taken aft where he held a reception. All the mayor's guests, the visiting governors and others were introduced to him. The admiral shook hands with everybody and said a word here and there when he recognized an old acquaintance.

It was about 11:30 a. m. when he boarded the Sandy Hook and it was quite an hour later when the sides of the Olympia were manned to greet him on his return.

The Only Accident.

New York, Sept. 29.—The only accident reported was the fall of a stand built over the river at West Forty-second street. Many persons fell into the water, but only one was injured. All were restored.

GREAT EXCITEMENT

Caused by Cotton Fluctuations—New Orleans Exchange Suspends.

New Orleans, Sept. 29.—Intense excitement prevails on the cotton exchange here and the directors of the exchange have met and suspended business. The New York market is closed and the only markets were from Liverpool. The market had scarcely opened when the operators became paralyzed by the advices that clicked from over the ocean. It showed futures jumping in leaps and bounds. In half an hour the reports showed that the Liverpool market had jumped nearly a cent. The whole exchange went wild and the excitement, spreading to the streets, multitudes crowded around the doors of the building. At 10 a. m. a meeting of the directors was called and prompt action was taken suspending all business. Operators are unable to explain the tremendous jump and the common belief on the floor is that the wires have been tapped and that a gigantic swindling game is afoot somewhere.

A news bureau claims that the trouble was caused by a misunderstanding as to the manner of using the movement.

While the telegraph wires were bringing the news of the advances at Liverpool, private cables to prominent local cotton firms were bearing the news that there had been little or no change in the Liverpool market. This at once aroused the suspicions of the operators and caused the hasty meeting of the directors.

The action of the directors in ordering a suspension of business checked a panic, but it only temporarily allayed the excitement and there is suppressed anxiety to know the solution of the puzzle. During the 30 years of its existence this is the first time that the New Orleans cotton exchange has been forced to order a suspension of all business.

One Ohio Man Injured.

Indianapolis, Sept. 29.—Train No. 4, east bound, of the Indianapolis, Decatur and Western railroad, went into the siding at Montezuma, Ind., at 3:15 a. m. The rear sleeper did not clear the main track and was struck by a fast freight train, west bound. The sleeper was upset and seven people were hurt. The car caught fire and was ruined. There were 18 passengers in the sleeper. Among the injured was O. E. Bradfield, Cedarville, O.

Charles E. Rowley Located.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 29.—Charles E. Rowley, formerly supreme secretary of the Fraternal Mystic circle at Philadelphia, but recently residing with his wife's parents at Columbus, O., who has been missing from home for several days, was taken into custody here. He attracted the attention of the police by smashing up a news stand in the Baltimore and Ohio depot. He is insane from cigarette smoking.

The wreck occurred at Shanghai island eight days ago. The steamer Monterey took off nine steerage passengers and 45 of the crew and 56 steerage passengers were left. Those drowned were Mrs. Robertson, wife of the manager of the Sunlight Soap company of Montreal; Miss Robertson, her daughter; Mrs. Childs, wife of the manager of the "Sign of the Cross" company; who were on board; Miss Street of Montreal and two unknown; Mrs. Dickson of Windsor, Ont., wife of a former editor of the Toronto Globe; Miss R. A Tell Tale Letter.

Paris, Sept. 29.—Marquis De Gallifet, the minister of war, having written to Figaro, asserting that he had never written to the Duc d'Orleans since the end of 1898 when he declined the latter's invitation to shoot at Woodnorton, the latter's reply by publishing a letter which, the papers say, was seized among the papers of Sandree Buffet, one of the persons recently placed on trial before the senate sitting as a high court of justice on charges of having conspired against the state. In this letter the Marquis De Gallifet says: "If the Republicans are so stupid as to confide the mastery of war to me, you, Monsieur, will not have occasion to be dissatisfied with me."

Regulations For War.

Pretoria, Sept. 29.—The government has issued a notice of the measures to be observed in the event of war. The ministers continue working, no real protection being afforded. Strict passports and regulations have also been provided.

THE VARIOUS BATTLES

Between the Venezuelan Forces and Rebels Described.

AMERICAN CONSUL'S REPORT.

State Department at Washington Is Fully Advised as to the Status of Outbreak in South America.

Washington, Sept. 29.—The state department has received a dispatch from the United States consul at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, under date of the 13th instant, in which he gives a summary of the several encounters between the government and rebel forces in that country.

The first encounter between the forces of the rebel general, Castro, and those of the Venezuelan government occurred near the city of San Cristobal, near the Colombian boundary line. The government forces engaged consisted of between 400 and 500 men under the command of General Lepoldo Sarria. The rebel force was considerably larger, but the actual number is not known. The rebels defeated the government troops and captured their leader, General Sarria.

The second battle was in San Cristobal. The 1,000 troops of the government, commanded by General Penaloza, engaged 2,000 rebel troops, commanded by General Castro, eight or nine days, resulting in General Castro withdrawing his men, he having learned that General Fernandez was on his way there with about 7,000 troops of the government.

The third battle was before and in the town of El Cobre. Report has it that the rebels here defeated 1,500 government troops under the command of General Morales and that the general succeeded in escaping with but 72 men under the ammunition train.

The fourth encounter took place at Lumbador mountain where General Weldemann, with 2,500 government troops, tried to stop the march of the rebels, reported to be 2,000 strong. The fight is reported to have ended in a draw, both sides claiming a victory. At any rate, General Castro continued his march.

At the town of Cordero General Castro was attacked by nearly 5,000 government troops under General Fernandez. His force was then considered to be about 3,000 men. A terrible battle was fought, reports placing the loss of the government at nearly 1,500 killed and wounded. That of the rebels is unknown, but it is thought to be less, as their position during the battle was superior. Again both claim a victory. After the battle the rebels marched to the town of Tover. In this place the rebels fought and dispersed. It is said, 800 government troops under General Suplicio Gutierrez and captured arms, ammunition and supplies. At Arenales were massed, according to report, nearly 3,800 government troops, commanded by Generals Torrez, Aular, Guevara and Planes.

Yet, if reports be true, the rebel's chief defeated them and captured many rifles and much ammunition. In Barquisimeto General Suarez had about 1,000 government troops entrenched behind strong fortifications, but the rebel forces did not attack.

Hemphill's Report.

Washington, Sept. 29.—The state department has received the following cablegram from Captain Hemphill, commander of the Detroit at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela: "Sailed for Curacao, West Indies. I have arranged to keep in communication with consul. Can get back in 10 hours after notice has been received. Rumors are current that Castro (the insurgent leader) has established a provisional government at Valencia and that the Venezuelan government is treating with him. The Venezuelan troops at Puerto Cabello have been reinforced. Affairs look more settled. Business being resumed."

Death of a Diplomat.

Washington, Sept. 29.—The Colombian legation has received an official cablegram from Bogota announcing that General Julio Rengifo, until recently the Colombian representative in Washington and one of the South American diplomats, has been drowned in the Magdalena river. It is believed that a number of others were drowned at the same time. General Rengifo left Washington a few months ago to become secretary of the treasury of the Colombian cabinet. While here he was prominent in official and social circles and married an American girl, Miss Jane Barbour, daughter of the late James Barbour of this city. Madame Rengifo is now in Washington, having expected to join her husband at Quito next month.

The Cincinnati Times Star published a special about the Brown speaking here Wednesday night, and headlines it.

"Republican enthusiasm in Mason Co., Ky."

The Times Star unknowingly sized up the meeting correctly. The applause given Mr. Corbett came principally from Republicans, but he knocked all the enthusiasm out of them before he closed by a few hot shot at the G. O. P.

ELSEWHERE in this issue will be found the formal announcement of Mr. Ben. T. Cox as a candidate for City Clerk at the November election. Mr. Cox was elected two years ago to this position for the term of four years, but on the breaking out of the war with Spain patriotically resigned and enlisted in the Fourth Kentucky. On his return he was re-elected by the City Council, but that body only had the right to fill the office until the November election, and he is now a candidate for the position for the remaining two years of the term for which he was originally chosen. Mr. Cox makes a faithful and efficient official, prompt in the discharge of his duties. Under the circumstances, all must concede that he is certainly entitled to the remaining two years of the term for which he was chosen two years ago.

White, of Estill County, who was here to-day on business in the Court of Appeals, says he has been in a number of counties in the Tenth Congressional district and is satisfied that it will give 2,500 majority for Goebel and the Democratic ticket. The usual majority is about 1,200 or 1,500.

SNAP SHOT OF TAYLOR.

Editor Meacham "Takes" the Republican Nominee and His Speech at Hopkinsville.

Editor Meacham thus describes Attorney General Taylor and his speech at Hopkinsville:

General Taylor at once began a fierce onslaught on the Goebel law and the English language. He spoke for nearly two hours and a half. He discussed in a general way the conditions of the country under Republican and Democratic administrations, claiming a great many things that were not true, and attempting to hold the Democratic administration responsible for the panic of 1893. He ridiculed the evils of the trust system, defended the conquest of the Philippines and upheld the single gold standard.

He then turned his attention to State matters and every five minutes digressed from other matters to take a fresh whack at the Goebel law. He grew revolutionary at times in discussing this measure that makes it impossible for Mark Hanna to buy Kentucky, and advised his partisans to defy the law and "stand by the ballot boxes and see their votes counted and drive away every man who tried to prevent it."

This advice, coming from the very fountain head of Hannaleism in Kentucky, shows how desperate the baffled conspirators are when confronted with a law making it impossible to steal elections in the future.

There were no flowers visible except the somewhat wilted flowers of rhetoric. We were able to catch a few gems from his speech, as follows:

"Kentuckians has never been called upon."

"Human beesins."

"PresIDENT."

"Magician's wand"—like band.

"We've give."

"Flutterin pattering."

"Men who work has my feelings."

"When thieves fall out honest men prosper."

"A hundred thousand Democrats is coming to vote against Goebel."

"Walls of the penitentiary stood like a charred image of Satan, as a memento of the sad past."

"He give it away."

"The eagle mounts to his cry."

The whole tenor of his speech was coarse, undignified and characterized by ignorant and reckless statements. Taylor is the most conspicuous example of a shrewd, audacious demagogue who has ever spoken here.

In the stand he is totally without dignity of manners. Although there were ladies in the audience, he repeatedly doubled up his leg like the blade of a jack-knife and laid it on the Judge's bench in front of him, three feet high. Once or twice he went further than that and placed his foot upon the top of the desk, assuming the attitude of a jumping jack. Again he would lean far over the desk in a wallowing position and attempt to guy the reporters by telling them to "write that down, won't you?" and other such ill-bred remarks. In some respects Sam Jones might obtain pointers from Bill Taylor. Sam's scriptural quotations, however, are generally pretty correct, but Taylor stultified himself every time he tried to quote the bible. His "hardened their necks and believed a lie that they might be damned" raised a hoarse laugh all over the room. Aside from the fact that his under lip is thick and rolling downward, Taylor is rather a good-looking man. He has black hair and eyes and is a fine specimen of physical development. It is only when he talks that he appears to such a disadvantage.

We do not know how to size him up any better than that he appears to be a pretty good match for Broncho Franks, with possibly a little more sense, but wholly without the graces of oratory that Franks possesses to some extent when in action.

The best thing he got off was when he made the grandiloquent declaration that "we have on hand $318,000 and when we go out we will go with colors flying."

The confession that he expected to go out was a break that greatly amused the Democrats present, and the sentiment was cheered in a way that left the speaker in a hacked and dazed condition, until he saw the point.

THE BULLETIN is authorized to say that Mr. Wm. M. Archdeacon, the well-known salesman at Hechinger & Co.'s, is a candidate for City Clerk at the November election. "Perry" is a popular young man, with a host of friends, and well qualified in every way for the position. He kindly solicits your support and influence.

ADJUTANT JOHN W. BOULDEN, of the local camp of the United Confederate Veterans, has received formal notice of the appointment of Comrade J. M. Poyntz, of Richmond, as Major General of the Kentucky Division. Major Poyntz urges every Confederate veteran to join some camp and get ready to attend the big reunion at Louisville next May.

"A Wise Woman," the three-act musical comedy by Wilfred Clarke, who is also responsible for that great success, "Oh! Susannah!" has been secured for the near future at the Washington Opera House. This is a fortunate booking for Manager Dye and one worthy of special notice as the attraction is to be seen in but very few one-night stands this season, its time having been almost entirely booked in the larger cities of the country. This is strong evidence of the strength of the company.

TO-DAY is the venerable Mr. W. N. Howe's eighty-sixth birthday. Mr. Howe was born two miles east of Flemingsburg, but has been a resident of Mason County since 1840. After coming to Mason he had charge of a tollgate near Lewisburg twelve years, and later had charge of the gate on the Lexington pike near this city for thirty-two years. His many friends hope to see him celebrate many more anniversaries of his birth. He has one sister and one brother living. The latter, Joseph P. Howe, is in the ninety-first year of his age. His sister, Mrs. Sarah Campbell, of Aberdeen, is eighty-one years old.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 29.—Willard Mitchell, a young Democratic orator of Jessamine County, here to-day, said:

"I have been making speeches in the First, Second and Third districts for Goebel and the State ticket and found people enthusiastic—more so than they have ever been before in a State campaign. Disaffection in the Republican ranks is greater than Democratic party. Goebel's plurality may reach 40,000."

The News-Herald, Hillsboro, O., says: "One of the most enjoyable events in the history of Hillsboro was the lecture given by Hon. Wallace Bruce. Never was a grander orator welcomed here by a greater audience. We all want to hear Bruce again."

Hon. Wallace Bruce will lecture in Maysville Saturday evening, October 14th. Plan to hear him.

The Ladies' Committee will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the rooms.

"A Bell Boy" To-night.

"A Bell Boy," which will be presented at the opera house to-night, is said to be an amusing comedy of the farcical order, cleverly constructed. The company includes twenty-two farceurs of metropolitan reputation. If you enjoy a hearty laugh be on hand to-night.

BEDFORD'S QUARRIES.

Observations of a Bulletin Representative Who Lately Visited the Wonderful Stone Fields of Indiana.

Recently, while on a visit at Bedford, Ind., the writer had an opportunity to visit the famous quarries and stone mills of that thriving town. If there ever was a locality especially rich in natural resources, it is the region about this bustling Hoosier city.

Bedford, the county seat of Lawrence, is a beautiful place, and to her nature has been most kind. Here the most magnificent specimens of building and monumental stone are found, and huge blocks weighing many tons are shipped to all parts of the world. The various branches of this industry alone furnish employment to more than five thousand men; thus it may be seen what a veritable bee hive of industry these works present. It would take columns of space to adequately describe the various processes through which the stone passes until it reaches the finished product. One could be entertained for hours in watching the great stamping engines, the powerful derricks, the penetrating drills and other ponderous machinery, and it is a sight worth going many miles to see.

Bedford is on a quiet but steady and substantial boom. Indeed, a town with an industry requiring such an army of skilled labor couldn't help growing. Of the many substantial buildings erected the past season, all are composed of the product of her own quarries; but for streets she is satisfied with brick. A block or so was put down as an experiment several years ago, and so satisfactory did it prove, they are now paving the principal thoroughfares with this material. One notices that the sidewalks are built chiefly of cut stone slabs, even in the suburbs, and we were informed the authorities will permit the use of nothing else for this purpose now.

Up-to-date in nearly every other particular, Bedford's opera house is not at all in keeping with the other institutions of the town. She has telephone, electric lights, water works and four railroads, but her theatre is no comparison whatever with Maysville's magnificent structure. Few places of double the size can boast of an amusement place that will equal ours.

Bedford is the home of that prince of good fellows, jolly John Johnson, editor and proprietor of the Democrat, who married Miss Claire of this place. "Johnnie," as he is almost universally called, is "stuck" on his town, and he seldom fails to say something in his paper that is likely to promote its interests.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and I thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at J. Jas. Wood's drug store. Regular size 50c, and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Mrs. MARY LEE, who keeps a boarding house on Vine street, Cincinnati, came here Friday and swore out a warrant for Arlie Frost for grand larceny. Frost spent last Sunday and Monday at her house and after he left she missed two gold chains, a pair of diamond earrings, a diamond lace pin, two shirt waists, a lot of handkerchiefs and stockings, a necklace of pearl beads and a gold shirt waist set of buttons. The police have recovered all the stolen property except the lace pin and one of the buttons. The goods were found at the home of one of Frost's relatives. Frost is still at large.

ANSWER OF OOM PAUL

Was the Pivot of Discussion at British Cabinet Meeting.

EXCITEMENT AT FEVER HEAT

Forces of Boers Are Concentrating in the Districts Contiguous to Natal Where First Battle Is Expected.

London, Sept. 29.—The meeting of the British cabinet on whose deliberations practically hangs war or peace in South Africa began at 1 p. m.

President Kruger's reply to the last note of the imperial government has now been received and was the pivot of the discussion.

A dispatch from Cape Town is given the leading place in the afternoon papers. While it is too brief to give an adequate idea of the Transvaal's attitude, the impression it produced was rather favorable than otherwise. The crowds began to gather in the vicinity of the foreign office as early as 11 a. m.

In the meanwhile dispatches from the cape continue the story of military activity in the Transvaal, Natal and Cape Colony.

The Boers are concentrating in the country contiguous to Natal, where the first outbreak of hostilities is likely to occur. Large contingents of burghers are converging from various parts on this probable battlefield. The excitement continues at fever heat.

The commandant general has issued a notice calling the commanders to assemble at a specified spot on the Natal border. The commanders from Krugersdorp whose burghers checked the Jameson raiders will embark on trains for the frontier. There is great activity at the war office at Pretoria. The artillery reserves have been called out, the arrangements to defend the frontier are now complete and the work of equipment is proceeding rapidly. The burghers are congregated in the towns ready to join their commands which, however, have strict orders not to approach too near the frontier and to avoid a collision with the British forces. The Boer forces are gathering at their bases of action, a short distance from the border such as at Harriemith, Volksrust, Vryheid and Bremersdorp.

Telegraphic communication between Cape Town and Pretoria has become strangely delayed during the past couple of days.

A number of young Boers who have been studying at Cape Town have started for home. The volksraad, in secret session, has passed a high treason bill providing for the confiscation of the property of burghers who refuse service. A proposal was submitted to make the confiscation retroactive, so as to include certain millionaires, but it was rejected.

A dispatch from Johannesburg reports a meeting of the wholesale and retail merchants there to consider the steps to be taken for the protection of the town. The chairman said he had been informed that the government did not intend to expel the British subjects in event of war.

To Form a Guard.

A resolution was passed in favor of forming a guard composed of merchants, property owners and others and empowering a committee to procure funds to carry on the municipal government.

From the British side come a few further particulars of military movements of a minor character, but all pointing to preparations to safeguard the frontier line in the event of war until a sufficient force is assembled to take up the offensive.

A dispatch from Pretoria says: "It is generally expected that a state of war will be proclaimed at any moment. President Kruger granted an interview and declared he has done all possible for the sake of peace."

"In conclusion, I asked if there was still a possibility of peace. "No," he replied, adding, after a pause, "unless the other side will do something to make peace possible."

A squadron of British cruisers is gathering at Cape Town. Advances from the interior of South Africa indicate that, thus far, the natives are quiet, and there is no sign of trouble. This is reassuring, as it was feared that some of the tribes in Zululand and elsewhere were becoming restless.

It is announced from Kimberly that a former mayor has called a meeting of Irishmen to protest against the action of their countrymen at home, who, he says, are under a complete misapprehension in supporting "the cause of tyranny in the Transvaal."

More Mules Secured.

New Orleans, Sept. 29.—One more steamship was chartered, making the third; another contract for mules was closed, and the first order for grain and forage was placed. That in a few words was the summary of the proceedings at British headquarters in the St. Charles hotel, when Major H. J. Seabell stopped work. It was by far the busiest day yet, and much was accomplished toward rushing the army supplies to the Transvaal, South Africa. The third transport secured by the admiralty was the mammoth ocean steamer Mount Royal, a twin screw freighter, soon to sail from Liverpool to New Orleans.
